My precious Hankybunch:—

I am wondering to-day whether your teeth pain you as much as my arm does. Right above the elbow of my left hand I have a big black and blue mark, and on close examination found 100 teeth imprints. And a la Sherlock Holmes, I made my deductions to go down to see them soon — and now I am more anxious than ever. We will go down there soon — eh!

Everlovingly
John

and solved the big, mysterious mystery. Indeed, I counted them, and when I got to 999 I was so tired — I let it go at 1001. I sure am sorry the dentist made such a good job of it —

I had a visitor from Mrs Mass come down to see me this afternoon. Tell Rosemma Frenzel from is working there every other day. & promised
